

Internetworking Indonesia Journal

The International Journal of ICT and Internet Development

- Leveraging Social Trust Matrix Factorization for Enhanced Recommender Systems 3
Rosni Lumbantoruan, Petrus Sinaga, Ignatia Hutagalung, Christy Sihombing, Humasak Simanjuntak, and Arnaldo Marulitua Sinaga
- EEG-Based Pilot Emotion Monitoring using KNN in Maneuvering Conditions 11
Arjon Turnip, Mohammad Taufik, Dwi Esti Kusumandari, and George Michael T.
- A Water Spinach Hydroponic System using Automatic Water Temperature and pH Level Controllers 17
Mohammad Taufik, Septian Ari Kurniawan, Muhammad Rizky Ferdiansyah, Anyelir Ayu Rizkia, Fawwaz Shafiq Huzayfa, and Taufik
- Comparative Analysis of Machine Learning Techniques for Formalin Fish Classification Using Image-based GLCM Feature Extraction 21
Marlince N. K. Nababan, Muhathir, Reyhan Achmad Rizal, Erwin Panggabean, and Mardi Turnip
- Heart Vigilance by Unveiling Abnormalities with Precision Through Naïve Bayes Classifier 27
Mardi Turnip, Gritfin Juniso, Thomas Halim, Aldi Riyanda, Abdi Dharma, and Arjon Turnip

Volume 15
Number 1
2023

ISSN: 1942-9703
IJ © 2023
www.InternetworkingIndonesia.org

Internetworking Indonesia Journal

The International Journal of ICT and Internet Development

ISSN: 1942-9703

www.InternetworkingIndonesia.org

The Internetworking Indonesia Journal (IJ) is a peer reviewed international journal devoted to the timely study of Information and Communication Technology (ICT) and Internet development. The journal seeks high-quality research papers on the challenges and opportunities presented by information technology and the Internet, as well as their impact to society. Issues in the IJ covers the broad areas of computing, communications, engineering (software & hardware) and the broader area of internet technologies.

The journal provides open access to all of its content on the principle that making research freely available to the public supports a greater global exchange of knowledge. This follows the philosophy of the Open Journal Systems (see the Public Knowledge Project at pkp.sfu.ca). The IJ issues are published electronically (PDF) and there are no subscription fees. Such access is associated with increased readership and increased citation of an author's work.

Journal mailing address: Internetworking Indonesia Journal, PO Box 397110 MIT Station, Cambridge, MA 02139, USA.

Computing, Communications, Engineering & Internet Technologies

The Internetworking Indonesia Journal covers the broad technical areas of computing, communications, engineering and Internet Technologies.

Possible topics for papers include, but are not limited to the following:

- Information technology and information systems
- Communications technology
- Software and hardware engineering
- Algorithms and computation
- Applications and services
- Broadband and telecommunications technologies
- Mobile and wireless networks
- Internet infrastructure systems, protocols, standards and technologies
- Multimedia and content development
- Education and distant learning
- Open source software development and deployment
- Cloud Computing, SaaS, and Grid Computing

Co-Editors

Thomas Hardjono, PhD
(MIT, USA)

Prof. Henri Uranus, PhD
(UPH, Indonesia)

Prof. Endra Joelianto, PhD
(ITB, Indonesia)

International Advisory Board

Prof. Edy Tri Baskoro, PhD (ITB, Indonesia)
Lakshminath Dondeti, PhD (Qualcomm, USA)
Paul England, PhD (Microsoft Research, USA)
Budi Rahardjo, PhD (ITB, Indonesia)
Prof. Svein Knapskog, PhD (NTNU, Norway)
Prof. Bambang Parmanto, PhD (University of Pittsburgh, USA)

Prof. Wishnu Prasetya, PhD (Utrecht University, The Netherlands)
Graeme Proudler, PhD (HP Laboratories, UK)
Prof. Susanto Rahardja, PhD (NUS, Singapore)
Prof. Jennifer Seberry, PhD (University of Wollongong, Australia)
Prof. Willy Susilo, PhD (University of Wollongong, Australia)
Prof. David Taniar, PhD (Monash University, Australia)

Technical Review Board

Moch Arif Bijaksana, MSc (IT Telkom, Indonesia)
Teddy Surya Gunawan, PhD (IIUM, Malaysia)
Brian Haberman, PhD (Johns Hopkins University, USA)
Dwi Handoko, PhD (BPPT, Indonesia)
Martin Gilje Jaatun, PhD (SINTEF, Norway)
Mira Kartiwi, PhD (IIUM, Malaysia)
Maciej Machulak, PhD (Google, USA)
Jesus Molina, PhD (Fujitsu Laboratories of America)
Bobby Nazief, PhD (UI, Indonesia)
Marisa Paryasto, PhD (ITB, Indonesia)

Ihan Martoyo (UPH, Indonesia)
Anto Satriyo Nugroho, PhD (BPPT, Indonesia)
Bernardi Pranggono, PhD (University of Leeds, UK)
Bambang Prastowo, PhD (UGM, Indonesia)
Bambang Riyanto, PhD (ITB, Indonesia)
Andriyan Bayu Suksmono, PhD (ITB, Indonesia)
Muhammad Suryanegara (UI, Indonesia)
Kuncoro Wastuwibowo, MSc (PT Telkom, Indonesia)
Setiadi Yazid, PhD (UI, Indonesia)

Internetworking Indonesia Journal

The International Journal of ICT and Internet Development

ISSN: 1942-9703

www.InternetworkingIndonesia.org

The Internetworking Indonesia Journal (IJJ) is a peer reviewed international journal devoted to the timely study of Information and Communication Technology (ICT) and Internet development. The journal seeks high-quality research papers on the challenges and opportunities presented by information technology and the Internet, as well as their impact to society. Issues in the IJJ covers the broad areas of computing, communications, engineering (software & hardware) and the broader area of internet technologies.

The journal provides open access to all of its content on the principle that making research freely available to the public supports a greater global exchange of knowledge. This follows the philosophy of the Open Journal Systems (see the Public Knowledge Project at pkp.sfu.ca). The IJJ issues are published electronically (PDF) and there are no subscription fees. Such access is associated with increased readership and increased citation of an author's work.

Journal mailing address: Internetworking Indonesia Journal, PO Box 397110 MIT Station, Cambridge, MA 02139, USA.

Publication Policies

Open Access Publication Policy: The Internetworking Indonesia Journal (IJJ) provides open access to all of its content on the principle that making research freely available to the public supports a greater global exchange of knowledge. This follows the philosophy of the Open Journal Systems (see the Public Knowledge Project at pkp.sfu.ca). The IJJ issues are published electronically (PDF) and there are no subscription fees. Such access is associated with increased readership and increased citation of an author's work.

No publication fees: There is no publication fees to authors for publishing in the IJJ. This is consistent with the open access philosophy adopted by the IJJ.

Copyright Policy: The IJJ adopts the Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives (by-nc-nd) license. The IJJ is an academic journal dedicated to the open exchange of information. For this reason, the IJJ is freely available to individuals and institutions. Copies of this journal or articles in this journal may be distributed for research or educational purposes free of charge and without permission. However, commercial use of the IJJ website or the articles contained herein is expressly prohibited without the written consent of the editor.

Authors who publish in the IJJ will release their articles to the IJJ under the Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives (by-nc-nd) license. This license allows anyone to copy and distribute the article for non-commercial purposes provided that appropriate attribution is given. For details of the rights authors grants users of their work, see the "human-readable summary" of the license, with a link to the full license:

- Creative Commons licenses: <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/>
- Human-readable summary: <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/2.5/>
- Full license: <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/2.5/legalcode>

Manuscript Submission Guidelines

Language: The primary language of the Internetworking Indonesia Journal is English due to its international readership. Note that the IJJ does not accept requests for the translation of submitted manuscripts.

Format: Papers should be submitted using the IJJ Template document for MS-Word. The IJJ format is derived from the popular IEEE 2-column text format. The IJJ template can be found on the IJJ website.

Length of manuscript: Papers submitted to the IJJ should not exceed 7 pages of the IJJ 2-column format.

Originality: Papers submitted to the IJJ must not have been previously published or committed to another publisher under a copyright transfer agreement, and must not be under consideration by another journal. Papers previously published at conferences can be submitted to the IJJ, but must be revised so that it has significant differences from the conference version.

Ethics Statement: Authors wishing to submit papers to the IJJ are requested to read and agree to the IJJ Publication Ethics Statement, which can be found on the IJJ website.

Internetworking Indonesia Journal
ISSN: 1942-9703
www.InternetworkingIndonesia.org